In our most recent mailing Forward Together chairman, Douglas Cranston, stated that “It is difficult to understand what would constitute an unacceptable life-style in terms of our ordination vows if a man who leaves his wife and child and sets up home with another man as his partner is deemed acceptable in the ministry.” Forward Together has received a letter from Scott Rennie’s solicitors concerning this statement. The letter states that Mr Rennie did not leave his wife and set up home with a man. Rather, Mrs Rennie left Mr Rennie. It was only two years later that Mr Rennie met his present male partner.

Forward Together apologises unreservedly for giving the impression that Mr Rennie left his wife and child for his present male partner and for any distress this may have caused Mr Rennie, his wife and his family.
